PRACTICAL TREATISE ON THE TEETH.

THOSE well-known dentists Messrs. GABRIEL have issued a new edition of their "Practical Treatise on the Human Teeth, their Loss and Restoration." The subjects treated upon are the growth of the teeth, their decay, and the mode of adapting artificial teeth during the various stages of destruction, precautions as to extraction, the stopping of teeth, &c. A series of simple receipts as to their preservation are also given, of which persons may avail themselves previously to obtaining professional advice. The plan pursued for so many years by Messrs GABRIEL in stopping teeth and the more elaborate art of mechanical dentistry are explained, and examples given to show the success of their treatment. The book is worthy of perusal, as emanating from those who have had a large experience in connection with the subject on which it treats. Messrs. GABRIEL have establishments in London, Liverpool, and Birmingham. Extract from "Chester Record," January 8th, 1864.—As may be seen by our advertising columns, Messrs. Gabriel supply Artificial Teeth on their patented system, irrespective of distance or climate.

IMPARTIAL, NOT NEUTRAL.
SHANGHAI, SATURDAY, JULY 2 1864

GORDON's long and glorious campaign against the Rebels in this province is now over, and it therefore only remains to discover whether, during the past eighteen months, the interests of right and justice have been served, and foreign relations with the Chinese placed upon a firmer and more satisfactory basis. As to the first question, it will readily be allowed that neither at the commencement of European interference nor at any subsequent period, did the absolute Right of either party in the state influence the decision of the foreign powers. Even now it is hard to determine to which side the scale of justice inclines. But seeing that our acquaintance with the history and the institutions of China has always been, and is now so limited, we were perhaps fully justified in accepting events as we found them, and in recognising Possession as the Divine Right by which the Manchous held the throne. Indeed, except in one solitary instance, there has been no pretence of philanthropy as influencing European interference in the struggle. That one instance—the emigration pretext started by Mr. Lay, met with derision so well marked that it proved in the most conclusive manner that so far as we were concerned, no question of principle was involved. We simply acted from interested motives—for the protection of our trade and the prevention of the confusion which must have ensued had the present dynasty been suddenly overthrown, and the Taiping rule established in its place. It seemed from the first evident that without our assistance the Rebels could never obtain undisputed sway in China. By supporting them we should have involved ourselves in the responsibilities of a protectorate, and should also have given rise to a series of European complications. For, had England, France and Russia decided on administering the government of the country, mutual jealousies must soon have sprung up, and the Chinese Empire, unwieldy in its vast proportions, would have proved an apple of discord, such as had not for many years been cast into the midst of the European powers. The Chinese themselves cannot be blind to the motives which influenced us in our decision to espouse the Imperialist side. Disinterestedness is neither appreciated nor understood by the members of any class in the country. When, therefore, the official mind was turned to the solution of the question why we espoused one side rather than another, the answer cannot long have been wanting. Granting, then, that no exalted opinion of our generosity has found its way into the native breast, we have simply to ask whether the Imperial Government is now in a better position than it was two years ago, and whether as a class European officials stand higher than they then did in the estimation of the Chinese. The Rebels have, it is true, been driven out of this province. Chekiang has also been restored to the Imperial sway, but the elements of civil discord which have been expelled from Keangsoo, seem, if we attach importance to native reports, to have fallen on a rich soil in Shen-si and Kan-su. If this be so, the gains and losses are very nicely balanced. Indeed we need not go far to find a proof that the Imperial successes in this province amount rather to a dispersion of the Rebels than to a destruction of the rebellion. So soon as the strongholds in Keang-soo were found untenable, descents were made on other districts. Thus in the province of Keangsee, Nan-fêng, Yi-Huang and Chung-jên have been occupied, and Fu-kien is considered to be in so dangerous a position that the Futai has proposed to take over the disbanded of Cooke's force to form an army for the defence of that province. Again, Soochow has been captured, and the local prestige of the Insurgents destroyed, but the province is impoverished, and scarcely affords a gleaning of wealth even for rapacious mandarins. Moreover, in consequence of the efforts made to put down the rebellion, a new class of men has been called into being—a class ready at any moment to form the nucleus of another insurgent movement. We allude to the disciplined forces, amongst whom a strong antipathy has sprung up against their fellow soldiers who serve under the Mandarins. Accustomed to the constant use of fire-arms, taught the advantages of organisation, they are, when disbanded, ready at a moment's notice to spread themselves over the country, to destroy hapless villages, to infest the creeks—in a word, to constitute themselves the scourge of the district which they were once supposed to guard. Taking these and many other points into consideration, we are compelled, while we acknowledge the absolute advantages gained, to question whether any of the causes which lead to rebellion have been removed or modified. We are apt to speak of The Rebellion, but it must be remembered that all China is in an unsettled state, and that there is not a province in the country altogether free from insurgent bands. So long as the Imperial Government remains weak and incapable, foreign assistance will do no more than drive the Rebels from the sea board, and, having forced them to relinquish their designs against ports open to trade, permit them to ravage the interior with as much safety as though no Government existed. The political advantages to the country are therefore questionable; we have, however, the satisfaction of knowing that by the policy pursued at present the mercantile interests both of natives and foreigners are furthered.

Turning then to the estimation in which we are held by the native government, we at once admit the improved position gained for foreigners by Sir Frederick Bruce's rigid administration of justice to his own nationals, and the jealous care which he has displayed to restrain the first outbreaks of mandarin exclusiveness for insolence. So far we have gained position and influence in the capital. Then again in this province, we can point with no ill founded pride to Gordon, and assure the native officials that such as he is, such England loves to see her sons. We can adduce countless instances of his personal bravery, his strategic ability, and his pure disinterestedness, but this latter is, we fear, thrown away. We can also instance Cooke, who, although not a Queen's officer, may well be entrusted with his country's honor in this land, and Macartney, whose career is well known to most of our readers, as that of one from whom England need apprehend no disgrace. But with these exceptions, and a few more which we allow our readers to fill up as they like, the Chinese central and provincial authorities have found foreigners seize every possible occasion to browbeat, bully, and squeeze. This province has been involved to an enormous amount, and the result does not, after all, appear very encouraging. The European officers (sic) employed to lead the disciplined troops, have occasionally shewn an example which did not tend to encourage the rank and file to deeds of daring. Those very men who ought to have felt that a sacred trust—no less, indeed, than the reputation of their country—had been reposed in them, were frequently to be seen in a state of brutal intoxication, incapable even of violence. Too frequently also was the good feeling which existed between Gordon and the high native officials jeopardised by the outrageous conduct of his subordinates. Forgetting that they derived their means of support from the mandarins whom they affected to despise, they considered themselves justified in treating their employers as though the latter belonged to an inferior race, and were in every way unworthy of respect or consideration. We might continue to heap example upon example—the enormous bills presented for military and other stores, the inefficiency of the men supposed to have been carefully subjected to European drill, the attempts made to extort money on frivolous pretexts, against all which difficulties Gordon had to contend almost single handed. But for his indomitable pluck and strict sense of duty, the European name would have fallen into disgrace at least in this province. But our design is not to write a panygeric on Gordon. We desire rather to show that, in spite of what he has done, English interest and English renown have not been materially advanced during the past two years. And this may without difficulty be accounted for. Instead of unconsciously fostering a spirit of enmity between the native and foreign drilled troops, instead of officering the semi-barbarous soldiery by men taken from the ranks of the English army and the decks of English men-of-war, we might have taught the native officers how to discipline and how to lead their men, and, having exhibited to them the full advantages of European drill, when not combined with the atrocious conduct of drunken drill instructors, we should have raised the morale of the military arm, and set ourselves in the light of friends and benefactors.

Summary of the Week.

SINCE the date of our last Summary the temperature has undergone little perceptible change, the weather remaining fine with the exception of two rainy days. On Wednesday evening the Amateur Burlesque Company again appeared in the burlesque Ill treated Il Trovatore and the farce of The silent woman. The talent displayed by the actors has elicited unqualified praise from the local press. As we have published a lengthened critique of the performance in our Daily Issue, we shall not particularise any of the actors; suffice it to say that the whole affair was managed most creditably. It is to be regretted that the talented amateurs do not intend to give another performance at present, but they have held out hopes which we trust will be realized, of again appearing before the Shanghai public as soon as the cool weather sets in. Musical performances have now become a Shanghai institution. On every evening either the Rhenish band or the band of the 67th Regiment plays on the bund. The residents evidently appreciate the entertainment thus provided for them, large numbers of foreign residents congregating during the performance. On Wednesday the Belooches were reviewed by Major General Brown and the Danish minister. Both the General and M. Bille seemed much pleased with the manner in which the men went through the evolutions. On Thursday evening the Commander-in-chief reviewed the 67th Regiment. It is believed that the 67th are under orders for the Cape and will shortly be relieved by the second battalion of the 10th. On Friday afternoon, the Belooches entertained a considerable number of visitors with an exhibition of their national games and feats of strength and agility. In consequence of the threatening aspect of the weather many who would otherwise have been present were deterred from venturing out of town. The meeting of Land Renters which was adjourned from the 16th April, was held last Thursday, at H. B. M. Consulate. We publish the Minutes in another column. We have still occasionally to record burglaries and other outrages perpetrated in our midst. The house behind the English Consulate occupied by Dr. Johnston and Mr. Jamieson was broken into on Monday morning and a cash box, containing a large amount in dollars, and a quantity of light baggage, were taken away. The robber was, however, shortly after he left the house, detected by a policeman whose suspicions were excited by seeing a Chinaman carrying a parcel in one hand while he endeavored to push an umbrella up his back. All the stolen property was recovered and the culprit's case was referred to the Taotai, but has not been as yet decided. Amongst the items of native intelligence we note the following. Ting-tu-jen, a Canton man, has been appointed Taotai of Shanghai in the place of acting Taotai Ying. The Shanghai Hien has issued a notification requesting the people to become more moral in their general conduct. From the provincial Gazette we learn that a Manchou named Yikéchi-shang, of the rank of Chiehno, has been ordered by the Futai to undertake the rebuilding of the Confucian temple in the provincial capital, which had been destroyed during the rebel occupation of Soochow.

From SOOCHOW we have dates to the 24th ultimo. A few days before, the mandarin Puan had detected four rebel spies within the walls. They confessed their errand but declared their willingness to join the Imperialists. The Futai seemed willing to agree to their doing so, and they imparted some information with regard to the internal economy of the rebels which, if their testimony is reliable, proves the correctness of the reports lately received as to the misery prevailing in those districts which are in the hands of the Insurgents.

From NINGPO we learn that two out of five French gun-boats which have been on the stocks for some time back, are now completed. They are heavily armed but have not apparently been built with the intention of lasting long. Both the machinery and timber are of a very inferior description. It is supposed that they are destined to take the place of Sherard Osborn's flotilla. Each vessel is furnished with two rifled 24-pounder broadside guns. The French have opened a dockyard which is now in full operation, under European superintendence. The French soldiers stationed outside Ningpo and the sailors from the gun-boats prove an almost unceasing source of annoyance to the native shopkeepers. Numerous examples of their brutality to unoffending Chinese have been cited in our Daily issue. We regret to say that Colonel Cooke's representations to the local authorities have seldom or never the effect of producing the punishment of the offenders.

From HANKOW and ports we have no advices of importance.

A PEKING correspondent informs us that everything remains quiet at the capital. A Notification which appears in our advertising columns announces that Mr. Wade has assumed charge at Peking, Sir Frederick Bruce being now in Shanghai en route to England.

The CHAIRMAN commenced proceedings by stating that the last meeting held on 16th April had been adjourned at a late hour, leaving several very important subjects undiscussed. Some of these had required the sanction of the Chinese Authorities before anything could be done with regard to them, and the interval between the last meeting and the present had been employed by the Consular Body in arranging and urging these matters.

This charter if obtained ought to from the Imperial Government. The ity of the Municipal Council is now undefined. As foreigners they are subject r own Consuls and Ministers, but when equire to have their hands strength- they should go through their repre- ives to the Chinese government. As to tablishment of the Chinese court, he notice the remarks as made by H.M. at the last meeting. The Chairman had draft and letter to the Chairman of Municipal Council, and this conferred e Council an excellent opportunity of ing the working of this court. e Chairman remarked on the informa- of a document laid officially before a ing of Consuls being submitted to a to- distinct body—the Municipal Council. ith regard to the first Draft of the Re- ions for the mixed Court, the Chairman stated that an important change has been made in it—viz., giving a civil as well as criminal jurisdiction to the Court. When this draft is fully prepared it will be formally laid before the Council.

Mr. Antrobus read the Consul's letter as to the establishment of the Court, and the reply of the Municipal Council.

Resolution I.

Proposed by Mr. Seward, seconded by Mr. Tyson.

This meeting is of opinion that it is desirable for the good government of the Foreign Settlement, that a Charter of Incorporation should be obtained from the Imperial Government and the Ministers of nations having treaties with China, in favor of the Municipal Council; and therefore resolves that a Committee be chosen to take the object into consideration, and report at the next meeting; and further, that Messrs. Antrobus, Hogg, and Tyson shall be a committee for this purpose.

The Chairman asked what powers were proposed to be sought for in the Charter of Incorporation. Mr. Antrobus stated that the chief object to be gained would be the possessing something certain and definite to take the place of what is now perfectly indefinite. The Land Regulations should, as a preliminary measure, be revised, and on these the Council would obtain power to sue in the Consular Courts any defaulters in the payment of taxes, &c. It would not in the slightest alter the position of the parties. At present individual members of the Council have to hand over heavy promissory notes when it is found necessary to raise money, but this is irregular in the extreme. Mr. Antrobus then read a portion of Sir F. Bruce's despatch on the subject, and this, he said, embodied all the objects which the Council is anxious to carry out. In a word the Council desires nothing except a legal status.

Mr. Hogg asked by whom the Charter of Incorporation should be drawn up.

Mr. Antrobus supposed such Charter must be obtained from the Imperial Government of China. There must certainly be some power in existence which can grant such a Charter.

Mr. Hogg stated that his question was by whom the Charter should be drawn up.

Mr. Antrobus said that the duty of drawing up the provisions of a Charter would fall on a Committee aided by the Consuls.

The Chairman remarked that the authorities could grant any one official power over his own nationals only. The ministers would have to apply to their governments for authority to act in the matter.

Mr. Hanbury said that the question was beset with difficulties. The sanction of the Chinese government was necessary, as was also that of the foreign governments who have treaties with China. It should be brought before the Consular body by this meeting or else by the Municipal Council. He therefore proposed that the matter should not be discussed, but should be referred to the Consuls. He considered that the Municipal Council had adduced no urgent reasons in support of the measure, and had brought no statistics whatsoever as to non-payment of taxes.

Mr. Antrobus would ask Mr. Hanbury how he would like to be in the position of either Mr. Dent or Mr. Cook, whose names at the present moment appear on promissory notes for some eighty or ninety thousand Taels. He submitted that this consideration alone furnishes a sufficient reason for the proposed measure.

Mr. Hanbury replied that had he been placed in the position either of Mr. Dent or of Mr. Cook, he would never have encountered such responsibilities. He did not think these gentlemen were by any means called on to do so. Looking at the Budget, he congratulated himself on the fact that the Council was not incorporated, for had the Council been in a position to borrow money when it chose, it was impossible to surmise to what an extent he might by this time have been involved.

The Chairman read the resolution proposed at last meeting to the effect that the Renters would sign a circular engaging to indemnify the Municipal Council.

Mr. Gould explained that circulars had been sent out to the number of 162, but only nine had been returned signed.

Resolution I. was put to the meeting, and carried unanimously. The following Resolution was then proposed by Mr. Kahn and seconded by Mr. Hogg.

Resolution II.

That in cases where land has been leased for long periods at very low rates, the Municipal Council be requested to make some abatement in the land tax as may appear equitable to the Assessment Committee appointed from amongst their number.

Carried unanimously.

Mr. King asked whether Sub-schedule No. 3 were still the basis of the probable income for the ensuing year. The Bankers' Tls. 60,000 would have to be deducted, as also should a large portion of the Brothel tax.

The Chairman remarked that, at best, Sub-schedule No. 3 was but a rough estimate.

Mr. THORNE having made some remarks as to dividing the settlements into wards,

The Chairman replied that Mr. Thorne's proposition had already been to a great extent forestalled, and he read a proposal now under the consideration of the Consular body and of the Municipal Council. Some difficulty in carrying it out is however to be apprehended.

Mr. Hogg suggested, that the Municipal Council should take the loan required out of the Taxes. It seemed that they would have to expend Tls. 160,000 over their income, and next year the land renters would have to find some Tls. 250,000. In fact the Council had come to a dead lock for want of funds. He would ask whether the Council were prepared with their budget before applying for more money.

Mr. Dent, in reply to the last speaker, reminded the meeting that the land renters had sanctioned the raising of three loans in order to carry out the drainage of the settlement, and the money must necessarily be now found to meet those loans. It was at first intended to raise the necessary funds by scrip, but as it was found impossible to do so, a loan must be obtained.

Mr. Hanbury considered the present expenditure of the Council enormously great, and he would suggest that it be immediately reduced. The French have shewn us a good example in making roads, erecting a municipal building, and paying off a small debt. The Council on this side posess no such building, and are ninety thousand Taels in debt. In consequence of Municipal scrip being found a failure, the Council had been obliged to raise the money on their personal responsibility at the Banks, and, now naturally enough they wished to be released. They had not been authorized to sign the bonds in question. As to diminishing the expenditure, the number of European police should be diminished, and a Chinese element introduced. In the city the police costs about one fifth of what the police in the settlement costs, while burglaries and outrages which are of rare occurrence in the city are of frequent occurrence within the settlement. One reason for this is doubtless that known bad characters are expelled from the city.

Mr. Kahn did not think that native police would work well. Shanghai men could not arrest Canton men, and vice versâ.

Mr. Hanbury replied that the reduction of the Police force was a question not of choice but of necessity, if the Council wished to pay its way.

Mr. Hogg proposed that the meeting should adjourn until the Council be in a position to produce a budget, which will shew exactly what funds may be expected.

It was then proposed by Mr. Marston, and seconded by Mr. Cowie.

Resolution III.

That as a security to the members of the Municipal Council who have attached their names to the loan paper authorized by the Land Renters, a deed of indemnity be drawn up and all resident landholders be called on to sign such document.

For it 50—Against 31.

Carried.

Some proposals made as to the Hong-que loan, and the formation of an efficient water police fell to the ground.

Mr. Dent remarked that the Taotai's 8 per cent was still due, and there appeared to be no means of meeting it. In consequence of this, the Document by which the Taotai pledged himself not to levy squeezes in the settlements becomes mere waste paper.

The meeting then adjourned, after the usual vote of thanks to the Chairman.

THE BETTER GOVERNMENT OF SHANGHAI.

(Blue Book on China, No. 3, 1864.

No. 104.

Sir F. Bruce to Earl Russell.—(Received October 28.)

(Extract.)

I have the honour to inclose a letter from some of the leading English and American residents at Shanghae, proposing a basis for Municipal Government at that place, and my reply thereto.

The French, American, and Russian Ministers had already agreed to the general principles, as stated in my despatch, on which such a body should be constituted, and I have no doubt that, if the municipality is so formed as not to give a preponderating influence to any one nationality, it may work harmoniously with the Chinese authorities, and produce great practical benefits.

Inclosure 1 in No. 104.

The Foreign Land Renters at Shanghae to SIR F. BRUCE.

Shanghae, June 12th, 1864.

SIR,—At a meeting of the Foreign Land Renters at Shanghae, held at Her British Majesty's Consulate on the 31st of last March, Mr Consul Medhurst in the chair, to take into consideration the past, present, and future government of the Foreign settlements at this port, we were appointed under Resolution No. 3 to act as a Committee to carry out the terms of Regulation No. 2, which was as follows:—

"That in accordance with the suggestion of the Chairman, a Committee be appointed to confer with the Treaty Consuls and recast the Land Regulations, in some such form as may meet the support of the Foreign and Chinese authorities, and to report to a future meeting of the practicability or otherwise of the measure."

In entering upon the duty entrusted to them, the Committee are sensible of the difficulties it involves, arising from the anomalous nature of the foreign position in relation to the Emperor of China as Territorial Sovereign, and his "de jure" jurisdiction over the large native population which has been brought together within the limits of the Foreign Settlements.

The object of this Committee is to endeavour to illustrate some practical measure which may reconcile the conflicting elements of the question, and in concordance with the spirit of Treaties, may lead to a satisfactory and sound system of local municipal Government securing alike the interests of the Foreign body politic, and the rights of the Territorial Sovereign.

The attention of the Committee has necessarily been specially directed to your Excellency's despatches to Mr. Consul Medhurst of July 3rd, September 8th, and November 5th, 1862, in which your Excellency maintains the right of the local Chinese authorities to impose what taxation they please on all Chinese subjects resident within the limits of the so-called Foreign Concessions, and expresses your Excellency's opinion that the collection of Chinese within those limits produces a most fertile source of misunderstanding with the native authorities, and that your Excellency is therefore convinced that Her Britannic Majesty's Government would wish to see the limits of the so-called British Concession reduced, so as to exclude the Chinese, rather than extended, so as to embrace a greater number of them.

The immediate duty of this Committee is to deal with facts as they are, but they consider it necessary in order to clear the ground on which their views are based, in making the subsequent propositions for the future government of the Foreign Settlement, respectfully to submit the following remarks.

In your Excellency's despatch of 8th September, 1862, to Mr. Consul Medhurst, after referring to the original character of the so-called British Concession, viz., as a certain space within which, by agreement with the Chinese authorities, British subjects might acquire land, so as to have the advantage of living together,—your Excellency proceeds to observe:—

"But the character of the Concession has been entirely altered by the acts of foreigners themselves.

"Instead of being a Foreign Settlement it has become a Chinese city, in which a few foreigners reside amidst a large Chinese population."

From the first of these paragraphs we beg respectfully to dissent. The object of the Land Renters in the early years of this settlement was to carry out the original status contemplated in the regulations made by Mr. Consul Balfour and the Chinese Intendant of Circuit, dated 29th November, 1845, so as to remove the resident Chinese from the limits, and thus to isolate the locality for foreign occupation only.

This condition was altered in 1853, by the laches of the Imperial Government, who could neither protect their own subjects, nor fulfil their obligation under Treaty of protecting foreigners, and yielded the city to the rebel chief Lew, and his bands.

Then began the influx of native Chinese into the Foreign Settlement, as stated in the report of the Committee on roads and jetties, presented to the Meeting of Land Renters held at Her Britannic Majesty's Consulate on the 11th of July, 1854, Mr. Consul Alcock in the chair.

"The capture of the city threw suddenly into our midst a crowd of houseless refugees, for the accommodation of some of whom numerous frail and dangerous tenements have been constructed, adding greatly to the risk of fire in the settlement; while we have among us a large and mixed population of Chinese who throng the streets and litter them with filth by day, and disturb our repose and excite frequent alarms by their street brawls and drunken revels by night, and should motives of humanity impel us to allow their longer continuance, a proper regard for our own health and comfort, as well as for the good of the settlement, renders necessary some effective measures to keep them under control.

"Many who have not been provided with shelter on land have sought it in boats which lie along the bund, and often cluster about the jetties, offering serious obstructions to cargo boats, and those of a smaller class employed in communicating with the shipping; while others still crowd the southern extremity of the bund and neighbouring thoroughfare with booths and stands for the sale of merchandise, thus attracting numbers of idlers and vagrants who block up the way and almost prevent any communication with that quarter."

The capture by the Taepings of the important cities of Soochow and Hangchow in the autumn of 1860, and of Ningpo in 1861, reiterated this influx of Chinese to the Foreign Settlement to a much greater extent, attracted, as they naturally were by the protection held out by the Allied Governments.

We hold, therefore, that no primary action of the land renters, however much they may have afterwards benefited in some points of view, was the cause of the present state of the settlement; the force of circumstances over which they had no control produced it, the leading elements being:—

1st. The inability of the Imperial Government either to protect themselves or their subjects, or to fulfil their obligations to foreigners, under Article I. of the Treaty of Nanking, and XVIII. of the Treaty of Tien-tsin; and

2nd. The policy of the British and French Governments in extending that protection which the Territorial sovereign has been unable to afford either at Shanghai, or in the greater part of this province and of Chekiang.

The Municipal system, and code of land regulations, framed in 1854, in view of the commencement of this anomalous position of affairs, were ratified by the Ministers of Great Britain, France, and the United States, in conjunction with the Chinese Intendant of Circuit, under such authority the system and land regulations have naturally been considered as giving a legal force to action taken in accordance with them, but we infer now from your Excellency's recent despatches on the subject, that such authority had no legal power, and that the right of the Chinese authorities within this settlement, as well as in the city, remains unimpaired.

We grant the argument to your Excellency that, according to the strict letter of Treaties, this may be so; but we consider that practically and according to the spirit of Treaties, it is not so, and it is of very great importance to the future safety and well-being of this important port, that some restrictions be placed upon the actions of the local native authorities within the limits of the foreign settlement. As among the proofs of the necessity of such restrictions, we may call your Excellency's attention to the taxes now being levied upon merchandise and articles of common use from all Chinese connected with foreigners or residing in the foreign settlement. These taxes are constantly increasing in weight and number, and have already seriously affected business, some of them being tantamount to a direct additional impost on foreign trade, beyond the tariff dues as provided by treaties.

The local authorities having only a temporary interest in the place, and unguided by the ordinary maxims of political economy, look mainly to the amount they can extort, and there is no guarantee whatever that they may not, at any day, proceed to such extreme measures of taxation as to destroy a trade even now struggling to exist under the heavy burden it is made to bear.

Having premised so far, we would respectfully call your Excellency's attention, in the next place, to the existing character and condition of this place.

It has become a seaport of great magnitude, no less than 270 vessels having been last year numbered at one time within its waters. It is the resort of people of all nations, including a large admixture of rough and lawless characters, and of a Chinese population collected from various quarters, and representing nearly all the provinces. The Chinese element combines with the European mercantile and missionary community to the formation of an improvised city.

For this city the present residents must perform hastily and at enhanced cost the various municipal works usually distributed in most places over many years and successive generations.

Moreover, in addition to those circumstantial difficulties, if the settlement was delivered into the hands of the Chinese, the foreign land renters at Shanghai would have to deal with the uncertain action of Asiatic officials, who, from the low scale of their legitimate remuneration, endeavour by exactions to add to their own resources during an uncertain tenure of office, and, regardless of the important influence exercised upon the progress of material prosperity by the maintenance of health and order, are almost entirely indifferent to local requirements for this object.

Under such exceptional circumstances, and in view of the ordinary claims of reason and humanity, it appears just that in framing regulations for the government of the place, the strict letter of Treaties should yield to the spirit, if required, in order to provide for the safety of life and property.

It is not our desire, nor do we believe it to be necessary, to deviate from the spirit of Treaties in the suggestions we are about to offer, which we trust will be acceptable to the Imperial Government itself, provided it is made aware of the anomalous character of the place, and of the danger of attempting to govern it solely by Chinese agents and according to Chinese principles.

We would further submit to your Excellency that the privilege sought for by the land renters is required by them as a necessity, not as a coveted advantage; such privilege entails a vast deal of trouble and expense, which they would willingly delegate to a Territorial Government to whose honest and energetic action the responsibility of Government might be safely left. Such a Government, however, does not and is not likely to exist at Shanghai, and in its absence we are compelled to request for the foreign community, such powers of Government as may protect this settlement as far as may be in human ability, from the calamities of anarchy and pestilence.

If, in order to make the system effective, some concessions are asked of the Territorial Sovereign, he is not without his compensation in having order and health maintained in so very important a place to Chinese interests, whether viewed commercially or politically.

Our preliminary propositions are as follows:—

1. That the new code shall be comprehensive in its application, and include all quarters occupied by foreigners—English, French, and Americans, or as many as will assent to be included.

2. That territorial jurisdiction should rest solely on grants from the Emperor or his representatives.

3. Civil and criminal jurisdiction must remain with the several authorities whose subjects and citizens reside here, the Chinese officers controlling the Chinese with the exception of Chinese actually in the employ of foreigners, arrests being made under warrants from the Municipal Council.

The Municipal authority, therefore, in criminal cases exceeding in importance a fine of dollars, would simply hand the offender over to the authority of the nation to which he belonged, and give proof of the offence, a public prosecutor being maintained for this object.

With civil cases it would have no concern.

4. If necessary, in order to obtain such grants of territorial authority, an arrangement to be made by which a certain tax or revenue, or percentage of the revenue, shall be paid to the Imperial Treasury in lieu of all exactions or dues upon Chinese residents within the foreign quarters.

Should the general bearing of the scheme suggested meet with the approval of your Excellency, and of the representatives of other Treaty Powers in unison with the Imperial Government, we shall at once enter on the detailed arrangements necessary for its effective execution to be in turn presented for consideration and approval.

We have, &c.

Inclosure 2 in No. 104.

Sir. F. Bruce to the Foreign Land Renters at Shanghai.

Peking, August 6th, 1863.

Gentlemen,—I received your letter of the 12th June, last month, and regret that owing to an oversight on my part, it has remained so long unanswered.

Before that letter reached me, certain propositions were laid before the foreign representatives at Peking by his Excellency the Minister of the United States, and received their assent as notified to the Consuls of their respective nations at Shanghae.

I extract the terms in which these principles were agreed to:—

1. "That whatever territorial authority is established shall be derived directly from the Imperial Government through our Ministers.

2. "That such authority shall not extend beyond simple municipal matters, roads, police, and taxes for municipal objects.

3. "That the Chinese not actually in foreign employ, shall be wholly under the control of Chinese officers, as much as in the Chinese city.

4. "That each Consul shall have the Government and control of his own people, as now; the municipal authority simply arresting offenders against the public peace, handing them over, and prosecuting them before their respective authorities, Chinese and others, as the case may be.

5. "That there shall be a Chinese element in the municipal system, to whom reference shall be made, and assent obtained to any measure affecting the Chinese residents."

I think that if these principles are adhered to, an arrangement may be arrived at, to which the consent of the representatives of the different Treaty Powers, and that of the Chinese authorities, may be obtained.

But I do not think they would, in the first instance, confer on the municipal body, any power to inflict fines on their subjects. Should the constitution and election of the municipal body be satisfactory, the Consuls might, perhaps, hereafter recommend that such a power in trifling cases should be given.

But to propose it at present would be to raise a question of little importance, which might endanger the success of the scheme.

Territorial jurisdiction is understood to mean the right to control thoroughfares and public buildings, public wharves and jetties; to impose and collect taxes; to establish and support a police; to arrest for disturbances of the public peace, and bring to trial; to license houses of public entertainment, public chairs, carriages, and boats; to enforce sanitary regulations by fines of dollars or less, but not beyond.

I think the object to be attained is one authority for municipal purposes, whose jurisdiction will extend over all the so-called foreign concessions, for I think the existence of distinct bodies of police, and of separate Municipal Councils tends to produce conflicts of jurisdiction, and to perpetuate the mischievous error that the interests of different nations in China are distinct, whereas, in truth, they are identical, and are best promoted by union and common action.

OSTEOEIDON.

PATENT, MARCH 1st, 1862.

MESSRS. GABRIEL'S Invention for supplying Artificial Mineral Teeth, with soft flexible gums, entirely dispensing with the use of springs, wires, or metallic fastenings, and especially adapted for warm climates.

MESSRS. GABRIEL,
THE OLD ESTABLISHED
DENTISTS,
Diploma 1815.
27, HARLEY STREET, CAVENDISH SQUARE, and
34, LUDGATE HILL (over BENSON'S) LONDON:
LIVERPOOL: 134, DUKE STREET.
BIRMINGHAM: 65, NEW STREET.

Parties at the extremity of the globe, by forwarding particulars as to the condition of their mouths, with an enclosure of One Guinea, will receive by return that which will enable them to take an impression of the mouth, so as to enable Messrs. G. to forward either a partial or complete set of Teeth.

GABRIEL'S CELEBRATED ODONTALGIQUE, for restoring and preserving the Teeth, 10s. 6d. and 21s. per bottle. Patent White Enamel for stopping Front Teeth, warranted never to change colour, 5s. and 10s. 6d. per packet; and the Gutta Percha 1s. 6d. per box.

GABRIEL'S Practical Treatise, on the Teeth, which explains the numerous advantages obtainable by their patented method, may be had of their Agents, or will be furnished direct on receipt of Twelve Stamps.

26ma-65 389 March 26th, 1864.

HOMŒOPATHIC Practitioners, and the Medical Profession generally, recommend Cocoa as being the most healthful of all beverages. When the doctrine of Homœopathy was first introduced into this country, there were to be obtained no preparations of Cocoa either attractive to the taste or acceptable to the stomach; the nut was either supplied in its crude state, or so unskilfully manufactured as to obtain little notice.

J. EPPS, of London, Homœopathic chemist, was induced in the year 1839, to turn his attention to this subject, and at length succeeded, with the assistance of elaborate machinery, in being the first to produce an article pure in its composition, and so refined by the perfect trituration it receives in the process it passes through, as to be acceptable to the delicate stomach, and a most desirable breakfast beverage. For General use

EPPS'S COCOA
Is distinguished as being
INVIGORATING, GRATEFUL, and possessing a most
DELICIOUS AROMA;
And to these qualities it is indebted for the adoption it now obtains as a
BREAKFAST BEVERAGE.

Three teaspoonfuls of the Powder in a breakfast cup, filled up with boiling milk or water, stirring meanwhile. Sold in tin lined ¼-lb., ½-lb., and 1-lb. packets.

Each packet is labelled thus:—"J. EPPS, Homœopathic Chemist, 112, Great Russell Street; 170, Piccadilly; and 48, Threadneedle Street. Manufactory—EPPS's Steam Cocoa Mills, Euston Road, London.
